I chose the two professions accounting, and police officer because of those are the two things that I would like to pursue in the future. In my original resume it was very bland and didn't have a whole lot of descriptive language used in it. In the AI resume it added additional character traits that was not originally on the original and it made those character traits based off the description it had from above. It also added longer sentences and made my sentences completer and more thorough throughout the process. On the original it had page breaks where it had breaks for each section that was required on the resume while the AI generated resume prompt did not have those page breaks to represent the different requirements. From what information I have gathered I learned that AI can take the most simple and confusing resume or paper and turn it into something easy to understand and viable.
